

There is nothing more annoying than unwanted phone calls invading the privacy of my home. I don't understand why anyone would want to try telemarketing at my home knowing that their calls are unwanted. I just slam the phone on them but am left angry. I expect the government to fulfill its duty to protect my right to block undesired calls. Thank you.